Meeting Notes

Thank you everyone who ventured into our first Delaware Library Public Services (formerly "Reference Services") online meeting today. It was great to have you there!

Here is a link to the recording today's meeting, beginning after our Adobe Connect learning time (the first hour):

During the last hour, we covered:

- Database Days update (final decisions announced)
- Virtual reference software changes
- Going from global to local (beginning July 1)
- Library "Working Visits"

During our meeting we talked about Ebsco's Flipster as part of the final database decisions. Some of you requested the current list of magazines and publishers, which is attached. The PowerPoint presentation used today is also attached.

The trial version of Flipster was provided again during this meeting (and I pasted it below), but as noted it is not accessible while in a library. You can try this out to gain familiarity with it, but please do not share this link with your patrons:

I will catch up with those who have contacted me about library 'working visits' and follow up on some of your questions very soon as we move forward on going local on chat and with Springshare's LibAnswers/LibChat. (I added the LibChat slide I created for last month's meeting, for your interest, as an attachment.)

Thank you again for your participation today!

The next meeting is in person at the Dover Public Library on Wednesday, July 16 (not 18), 10am to 12pm.
